VOLUME THIRTY - ONE

a record of the college year for 1933 - 1934

PUBLISHED ANNUALLY BY THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA

FOREWORD

In the preparation of this volume of the Artemisia the editor and staff have sought to portray university life in its many moods and phases, from the glamor of its idle hours to the sincerity of its inner purpose. Herein we have striven to set down in word and picture an accurate and lively story of the campus and its people for the college year just passed. It is our desire that at some future hour as you leaf through this Artemisia you may live again those happy days spent at Nevada and that the book become a cherished album of the past and increase in value and richness as the years go by.

TO DEAN REUBEN C. THOMPSON

DEDICATION

For his sincere and consistent desire to inspire, direct, and instill within the thinking young men and women of our university an appreciation of the value of sound reasoning and the worth of spiritual reality. Never was the demand for thinkers so great as at this hour, nor will it diminish in the years to come. How honestly he has sought to fulfill this demand can be determined only by we whose privilege it has been to sit with him. A lovable, respected philosopher mellowed in Socratic wisdom, he is the essence of all the ideals which he embodies in his teachings. 'Tis indeed a small payment in gratitude for so splendid a service that we set aside this volume in dedication to a loyal Nevadan.

DR. WALTER E. CLARK, PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

There is a national "New Deal". A Student Body "New Deal" is due.

Traditions are simply formulae covering continuing practices, some of which are altogether good, some of which should be modified, some of which are outgrown and some of which never had any justification.

The campus "New Deal" calls for a re-appraisal of Student Body traditions, with determined purpose to conserve the good and to eliminate the evil.

This year organized and continuing Student Body efforts have been made to abolish or greatly modify the hazing traditions, the uglier features of which have been kept alive in recent years by the strident support of a small minority only of the Student Body. These efforts have been aimed both towards critical review of the "Thou Shalts" and the "Thou shalt nots" of the "Frosh Bible" and towards reformation of the penalties for freshman offenses. The normal outcome of such efforts, if and when any considerable number of the Student Body thinks the proposals through, will be the abolition of some of the heckling, minor offenses and the abolition of all forms of student punishment involving man-handling of any kind. The aim of this whole program should be to substitute "Hospitality" for "Hostility" in the attitude of upperclassmen towards freshmen.

In addition to this important critical reconsideration of present traditions to the ends of elisions in whole or in part, the campus "New Deal" for traditions should include constructive endeavor to better old but worthy traditions and to start useful new practices which may season into worthy traditions. The past fourteen campus years have seen the establishment of three valuable and worthy new traditions—"Homecoming," "The Wolves' Frolic" and "Phi Kappa Phi Day". Surely the spring of student inventiveness has not gone dry.

When the old "Hostility" program is discarded, there will be fine opportunity to set up new practices under the "Hospitality" standard. Various forms of individual or group welcoming and continuing helpfulness by upperclassmen to freshmen could be developed.

Again, systematic arrangements could be devised to secure more cordial and more complete student support to all important student group activities, generally representative of the whole campus. When the students of any group give weeks or even months of their time in preparation for some offering to the campus, the least the rest of the student body can do, in fairness, is to attend the event and to cheer on their hard-working fellows, be that event a Varsity athletic contest, a Varsity debate, a Varsity dramatic, musical or other artistic offering. There is an open field here for the initiating of new customs which will widen and enthrall student body support for every type of worthy student group offering. Any new practices which were established and which grew into abiding traditions that insured glowing and appreciative student support of all worthy campus group activities would be doubly progressive—the students generally would all be happier if attendance and enthusiastic support were substituted for absence and indifference and cheap sophisticated criticism and the laboring groups would be cheered on to achieve for the campus even greater victories in the field and in the forum.

I congratulate the Student Body upon its "New Deal" outlook. May intelligence and fairness prevail in its councils and may it continue its good work, so well begun until it ushers in a true new day on the campus—a day of deliberate friendliness to all new comers and of general whole-hearted appreciation and support of every worthy student activity.

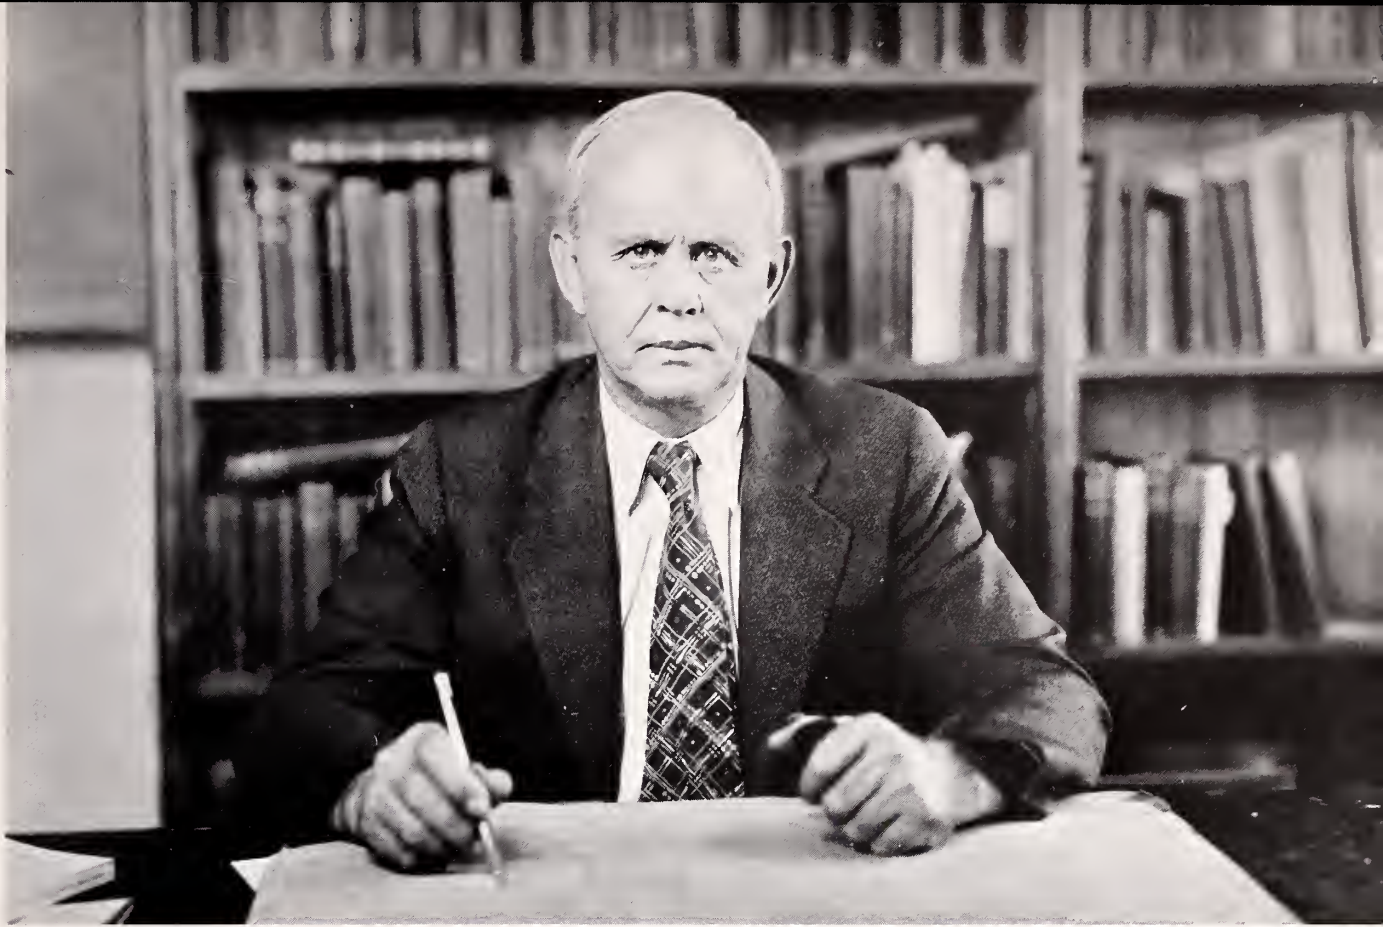

DEAN MARGARET E. MACK

Arbiter of the many and tangled social affairs of the campus, Miss Margaret Mack as the Dean of Women has gained the admiration of the entire student body for her tireless work in the execution of the office. The successful holder of such a position as hers must be possessed of infinite tact, good judgment, and a quiet but determined spirit. That Dean Mack has all of these qualities will be willingly attested by those who know her.

The new woman student is always sure to find friendly help and counsel as to her place in the classrooms, in campus activities, and in the residence halls from the office of the Dean of Women.

In the past year special efforts have been made by Dean Mack, in cooperation with the Associated Women Students, to make the senior girls of the various high schools throughout the state acquainted with the opportunities offered by the University and to establish friendly relations between active and prospective students.

DEAN OF WOMEN

DEAN REUBEN C. THOMPSON

DEAN OF MEN

Rounding out his second year as the Dean of Men, Professor R. C. Thompson has very faithfully and ably carried out the duties of that office. In addition to the work devolving upon the holder of such a position Dean Thompson carries a full teaching schedule as the head of the philosophy department, which leaves him a limited amount of time in which to carry on his student work.

As chairman of the student affairs committee the dean handles all the cases of student misconduct and error. He also serves on the campus calendar committee in conjunction with the dean of women for the purpose of regulating the dances and social activities of the various campus groups.

Upon the resignation of J. E. Martie as chairman of the faculty athletic committee and as faculty representative to Finance Control, Dean Thompson was appointed by President Clark to fill these positions.

The office of the dean is always open to students for advice and counsel on all questions and problems concerning the university men.

LOUISE M. SISSA
Registrar

The duties of the registrar are very numerous and are an essential part of the university. Among the duties devolving upon this office are the listing and classifying of student records, compiling and arranging registration cards, sending out delinquent notices, filing transcripts and transfers, keeping in contact with the faculty for grade statistics and removal of conditions, and the reporting of the totals of registration, class standing, and other pertinent and vital facts for the information of the president of the university.

The position of registrar has been very ably and faithfully handled by Miss Louise M. Sissa since August 15, 1906. At that time the burden of the work was handled by her alone, but of late, with the increase of attendance, several assistants were hired. Mrs. May Cupples Bradshaw is the first assistant of the office and she is aided by a student assistant. Miss Virginia Wheeler has served in this capacity for the past three years and upon her graduation this spring another assistant to the office will be selected.

Miss Sissa graduated from the old Bishop Whitaker school in Reno, and later became one of the faculty of that institution. She also attended girls' schools in Salt Lake City, Utah; Tacoma, Washington; and Berkeley, California. She has an active interest of all affairs of student concern and is especially interested in the individual scholarship records of the university.

STUDENT SENATE

Student Body President

Growing out of years of discontent with "steam-roller" politics and strong fraternal combines which have held a strangle hold on student government, an entirely new constitution having as its nucleus a student senate, came into being last year.

Early in the fall semester of last year a special constitution revision committee with Elbert Walker as chairman was appointed. The committee communicated with many universities on the matter of government and after several months of intensive work it succeeded in drawing up a constitution which was acceptable to the student body.

The new constitution was adopted on March 10, 1933. The executive body is vested in a student senate composed of one representative from each of the fraternities and sororities, Lincoln and Manzanita Hall Associations, and two representatives from the Independents, thus assuring a fair representation to all groups concerned. A special committee known as the Nominating Committee is appointed by the Senate from within its membership and is probably one of the strongest committees on the campus having the power of nominating for the approval of the Senate and the student body all official appointments including nominations for the student body offices of A.S.U.N. President and A.W.S. president. An innovation also has been inaugurated in the form of a class manager to replace the old system of class officers.

Under the guidance of President James Wallace the new form of government has progressed to a very satisfactory stage at the end of its first year. The senate has, according to unbiased observers, fulfilled the spirit of the new constitution by keeping politics entirely out of all student appointments. Fraternal affiliations of candidates have not affected their selection for office.

FINANCE CONTROL

Charged with full supervision of all finances of the Associated Students, the Finance Control Committee is one of the most important governing bodies on the campus. The committee consists of five voting members who are responsible to the student body and to the university officials. The chairmanship of this committee is vested in a faculty representative who is chosen for a term of one year by a vote of the Student Senate. Professor Frederick W. Wilson was appointed to the position last year to succeed Professor Paul A. Harwood and has been reappointed to serve for the coming year. Other members of the committee include the president of the student body, the chairman of the faculty athletic committee, and two students elected by the Senate from within its membership.

Corresponding to the former office of Graduate Manager an Executive Secretary to the Finance Control Committee has been created by the new constitution. This officer is non voting and is directly responsible to the committee. It is his duty to serve as the executive officer of Finance Control, and to supervise the receipts and expenditures of all monies of the Associated Students, and affiliated organizations, and to be financially responsible for the same.

Joe McDonnell, the first to serve under the new office of Executive Secretary has ably discharged his duties and has been instrumental in putting student finances in a legible state. McDonnell was re-elected to fill the office of executive secretary for the coming school year at a meeting of Finance Control Committee on March 6. He will have powers approximating those of a full graduate manager. Prior to the election the report of the accountant who audited McDonnell's books stated that they were in excellent condition.

HOMECOMING DAY COMMITTEE

This year the Homecoming celebration staged by the committee under the direction of Jack Smith was one of the most successful in the history of the school. Each year a weekend is set aside to celebrate the return of alumni to the campus and extensive plans for their entertainment are arranged to include a bonfire rally, the Wolves' Frolic, football game, and a Homecoming Day dance, and many other features.

The big event of the spring semester is the Mackay Day celebration in honor of Clarence H. Mackay, Nevada's greatest benefactor. The day begins with a campus cleanup and at noon luncheon is served in the gym to students, faculty, and alumni, and nominations for the student body officers are in order. Various contests feature the afternoon's activities, and a Whiskerino dance in the gym tops off the day.

GENE SALET
Class Manager

SENIOR CLASS

Beginning an active four years at Nevada, the class of 1934 elected officers to manage it through the freshman year and to cooperate in campus activities. Many of its members earned places in athletics, publications, and other organizations of the university.

As sophomores the class continued taking part in the campus scholastic, social, and athletic fields, and the setback received in the annual class fights at the hands of the Frosh did not interfere with the duties of the Soph vigilance committee in seeing that Nevada's traditions were not violated.

The following officers were elected to serve the class during its junior year: first semester—John Flournoy, president; Virginia Cross, vice-president; Martha Scrugham, secretary; Paul Hartman, treasurer. Second semester—Bruce Gould, president; Nell Lozano, vice-president; Elna Jensen, secretary; Nolan Gault, treasurer. Though not being able to give the annual Junior Prom, the class entertained the students at a spring formal in honor of the graduating seniors.

Gene Salet was elected class manager to guide the class in its fourth year at Nevada. The Senior Week Committee consisted of Clara Galvin, chairman; Russell Elliott, Donald Butler, Doris Shaver, David Clark, Patricia McCulloch, Alice Couch, Beverly Douglas, Alonzo Priest, Nolan Gault, William Gelder, Margery Mullen. The Senior Gift committee was: Ralph Myers, chairman; Robert Marean, Virginia Wheeler, Florine Frank, Allen Young, Anne O'Neill. The Senior Traditions committee consisted of Dan Harvey, chairman; James Cazier, Paul Fontana, Sam Arentz, Jr., Bedell Beasley, Mary McCulloch, Blanche Lucas, Don Brown, Jack Hill.

As a memorial gift to the campus, the senior class installed a drinking fountain in the Student Union building.

THE PILGRIMAGE

The class of '33 takes its last look at familiar campus haunts as the annual trek is made around the university. Wearing their caps and gowns for the first time the seniors spend the best part of the afternoon talking over the achievements of the class and the name they have made for the university and individual members of the class touched by the occasion make speeches.

JUNIOR CLASS

FRANDSEN LOOMIS
Class Manager

In view of its activities on the campus this year, the class of '35 promises to be one of the most outstanding in the history of the university. Under the guidance of Frandsen Loomis, class manager, the Juniors were participants in nearly every sport, publications, student government, social functions, and other organizations on the hill.

As freshmen the members of the class defeated their sophomore opponents in the annual field day and the following year overcame the yearlings to win the coveted honor of wearing white vests and derbies.

The Soph Hop given by the '35ers was given at the State building, and its success showed that the class knew how to promote social functions. It was the only class dance to be held that semester.

JUNIOR PROM

Climaxing the social season of the 1933 fall semester, the annual Junior Prom was given on December 9 at the Country Club. The class formal was declared by all to be one of the best ever staged.

Leone Clark, a member of the class, was chosen as queen of the Prom by the men attending the dance, while Elmer Hawkins, also a junior, was elected the most popular male member of the class by the women.

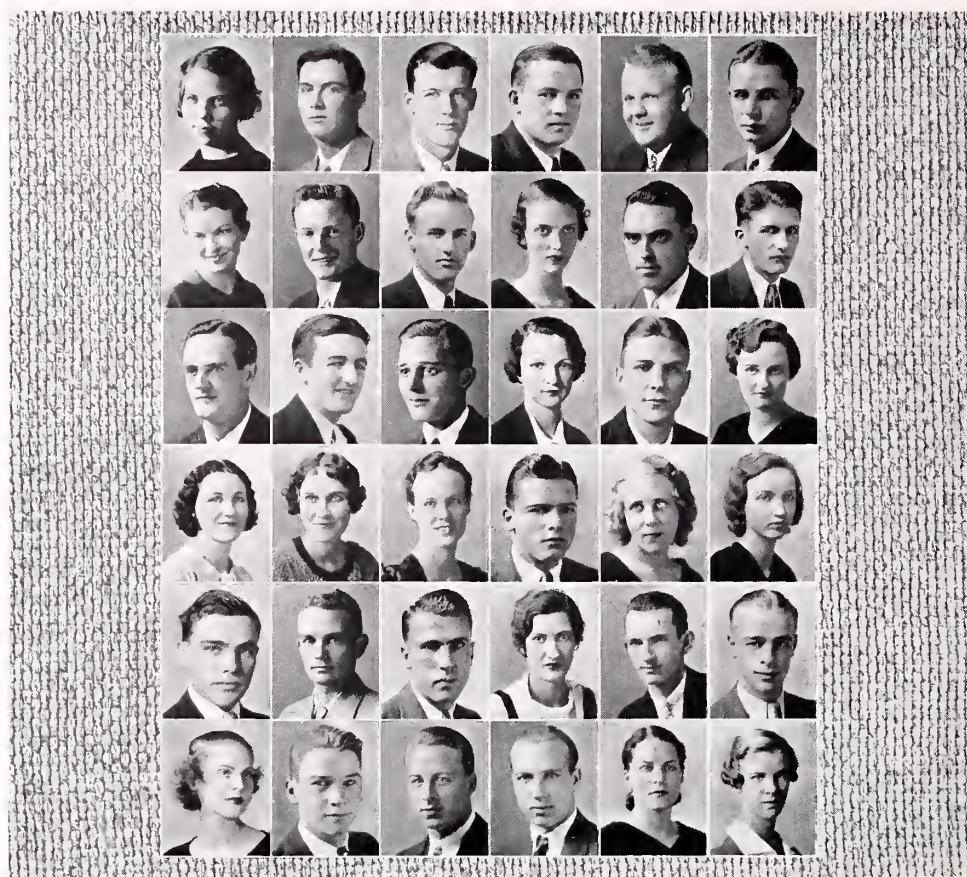

Novel decorations, featuring a floral piece over the fireplace in the form of the class numerals, added to the beauty of the ballroom. Feature programs were distributed to the guests.

Garry Callahan and his orchestra furnished music and entertainment for the affair.

JUNIOR CUT DAY

One day each spring is set apart by the members of the Junior class, though not by the university, in which to cast aside all dull cares which may beset the normal junior such as classes and books. The tradition has been observed for many years and will probably be observed for many more. For some reason or another the class stages a celebration in its honor usually in the surrounding foothills or at Tahoe or Pyramid. Previous to the Whiskerino of Mackay Day, a beard growing contest along with a dance was a part of the day's festivities.

When April 18th rolled around this spring the juniors proved their class loyalty almost to a man and followed Ray Frolich and his committee of Bill Gelder and Orison Miller where they might lead.

SENIOR BALL

As a fitting close to a year already filled with brilliant social events, members of the Junior class sponsored the annual Ball given in honor of the graduating seniors. The formal which marks the official close of the social year is restricted to upperclassmen who may be escorted to the dance by an underclassman or woman.

This year the Ball will be held in the Washoe County Library Building on May 11 and promises to be one of the finest of its kind with plans made to give the seniors a rousing and enjoyable send-off that they will not soon forget. Victor Carroll, as chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements will be assisted in his work by Clay Heilman, Robert Maher, Brooks Park, George Steffens, Ralph Menante, Sallie Fagan, and Juana Barber.

VICTOR CARROLL
Senior Ball Chairman

JOSEPH CLARK
Class Manager

Under the leadership of Joe Clark, class manager the sophomores enjoyed a successful social year. The Soph Hop held on October 28 at the County Library Building was a very enjoyable affair and well attended for the first class formal of the year. The committee in charge of arrangements for the dance was headed by Edward Paradis and consisted of Frank Quilici, Carl Dodge, Claude Hunter, Walter Bartlett, Orva Selkirk, Rita Gunter, and Mary Corecco.

However, during the annual Soph-Frosh Field day the class suffered an upset when the first-year men cleaned up a majority of the available points in practically all of the events. The Frosh greatly outnumbered the Sophs and proceeded to take the matter in their own hands.

The vigilance committee in charge of Howard Christensen for the first semester and under the rule of Ed Sullivan for the second, had a trying year in dealing with the freshmen. The overbalancing number of yearlings coupled with their intestinal fortitude made the enforcement of the campus traditions most difficult. Intended "lakings" of the Frosh more often resulted in a ducking party for any sophomores who were so unfortunate as to be in sight. In spite of a general campus feeling that all physical hazing for tradition violations should be abolished, the vigilance committee continued to function during the spring semester, and succeeded in keeping the erring Frosh much better in hand.

Various members of the class have shown interest in student activities in general and several have earned berths on the varsity and minor sport teams as well as the publications, student committees, and social groups of the campus.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The university is proud of its freshman class. Individual members and the class as a whole have shown themselves to be of the real Nevada material.

In athletics the class has far surpassed any previous, having a football team that breezed through a comparatively hard schedule without a defeat and a basketball team that all but duplicated the feat only losing one game in the entire season's play.

Socially the class has responded very well and individual members have entered debate, dramatics, and the glee clubs. The annual Frosh Glee presented April 7, at the Twentieth Century Club was well attended and declared to be highly successful financially as well as socially. Much credit for the affair is due to the hard work and efforts of the committee which was in charge of George Anderson. It included Jeanne Cardinal, Betty Bowman, Elizabeth Juniper, Kenyon Richards, and Walter Palmer.

As far as the Sophs are concerned, the freshmen indicated early in the year that they were ready and waiting for anything their superiors could furnish. In the annual Soph-Frosh field day the first-year men decisively routed their opponents and this victory if repeated next year will give them the opportunity to wear the coveted white vests and derbies. The Frosh responded to the call to whitewash the "N" and gave the big letter its annual swabbing amidst flying buckets and white lime.

At a meeting of the class in the fall semester, Wayne Kennedy was elected class manager. He is the first freshman to be elected manager under the new constitution. On the whole the freshmen class has completed a most successful and eventful year, and promises to develop into a strong group of seniors in three more years.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

Organized for the purpose of forming an official body which will correlate and unify the activities of the women of the campus and represent them in matters of general concern, the Associated Women Students have undergone their first year under the new constitution very successfully. Marthine Solares, as the president of the Association is assisted by an executive board composed of officials of the various women's organizations. The board acts in the capacity of an advisory body on all matters concerning appointments, and the enforcement of the laws of the Association.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

Pan-Hellenic Council is an organization whose purpose is to govern the six sororities on the Nevada Campus. It is composed of two delegates from each house and its chief duty is to control matters concerning rushing and pledging. The local council is a member of the national organization and has authority to penalize violators of Pan-Hellenic rushing regulations.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

There's nothing these gals won't do. The picture at the top was taken before the ladies had their ride out at Baker's where they go three times a week. Sarah Graves poses for ye olde cameraman just after winning the women's singles championship. To the left is the varsity volleyball team and below them is the varsity hockey team and then our riflewomen.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Peaches Stark does a swan float or sumpin' after about eight tries. The Theta swimming champions are about to take off at the annual meet at Moana Springs. Below the basketball team is warming up and to their right "Doc" Martie makes a home run in a tussle with the women one afternoon. Some more acrobatics and Peaches misses one a mile.

GOTHIC "N"

Membership in Gothic "N" is the highest honor conferred upon university women for participation in athletics. Among the qualifications necessary to belong to the group are scholarship, service to the Women's Athletic Association and to the university, good sportsmanship, and athletic ability. Competition in at least one major sport is required.

UPPERCLASS COMMITTEE

THIS committee is composed of a number of upperclassmen who are entrusted with the duty of handling all violations of the campus traditions by the underclassmen and especially those cases with which the Soph vigilance committee is unable to cope. The new constitution has made it necessary for the chairman to be a member of the Student Senate and his committee is responsible to this body for the enforcement of the traditions on the campus.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

THE council is an organization founded for the purpose of regulating the rushing and pledging of men students and the promotion of a closer contact between the different fraternities on the campus. It provides awards for the various intramural sports and offers a revolving trophy to the fraternity which has been the winner of the greatest number of the sports. The council is composed of delegates from the eight campus fraternities and Lincoln Hall.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Almost looks like a page in the Sigma Nu scrapbook. Anyway, the boys cleaned up things in the interfrat sports for the spring and fall of 1933. Up there's the winning basketball team and below it may be seen their championship track and baseball teams. A couple of action shots of "Ebe" and "Anse" with a ball club show the mettle of their men.

In an attempt to arouse the languid spirit prevalent on the campus, many and varied rallies were staged by the yell leaders. On the occasion of the first home game a wild gang of pajama-clad hoodlums paraded the downtown streets to let the natives know that there was a grid contest in the offing. The highlight of the year was the Homecoming bonfire. Songs by the glee clubs, music by the band, speeches, yells, and a red-hot fire served to whip up spirits. During the year several rallies were held in the bleachers and in the gym and at all football and basketball games the varsity yell leader and his two worthy assistants kept up the high spirits of the crowd.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Fritz Coltrin serving as assistant coach to Mitchell has had the experience of working with him as both were assistants to Nibs Price at California in 1928 and 1929. Coltrin held down the tackle berth on the California varsity in '25, '26, '27 and was chosen captain in his last year and was rated as an all-coast tackle.

Chester Scranton, Frosh coach, produced an outstanding football team this year, winning every game of the season. In basketball his yearmen lost only one of their scheduled games. From indications his trackmen should round out a most successful year for him. Scranton is also assistant director of men's physical education.

Dan Bledsoe steered his junior varsity Whites basketball team through a tough season to win the City League tournament. Bledsoe, a stellar forward on the Nevada varsity was chosen All-Conference forward for two successive years.

Gail Parsons and Alfred Thies have served on the coaching staff of the football squad and materially aided in the building of the freshman team. Both men have made impressive grid records on the Nevada varsity.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS

Ralph Menante was chosen to fill the job of football manager and for his good services he was awarded a block N sweater at the close of the season. The position of manager is very important to the smooth working of the squad as it is his duty to arrange for transportation and quarters for the team, besides caring for equipment, supervising the sophomore managers and doing innumerable small jobs.

Frank Hickey was selected as manager of basketball for the 1933-34 season after ably serving his apprenticeship as a sophomore manager. His position carries a great deal of responsibility with it, for the needs of a hoop squad are very numerous. He also was awarded a block N sweater for his services.

Floyd Smalley was manager of track for the 1933 season and Bud Loomis was selected to succeed him for 1934. Both of these men were well fitted to handle this tedious job and were chosen upon the basis of their past merits and records. The services of the manager are required at all times and it is his special job to maintain the track oval in good condition and arrange meets.

THE SEASON

The 1933 football season, Head Coach Clarence "Brick" Mitchell's second at Nevada, was the most successful in recent gridiron history. The Wolf Pack was undefeated and untied in Far Western Conference play, thereby gaining the undisputed championship of the circuit for the first time since the conference was founded. The stiff eight game schedule, played by one of Nevada's smallest squads, was completed with a record of four wins and four losses.

UNIVERSITY OF SAN FRANCISCO

The first intercollegiate game in the far west football season between the University of Nevada and San Francisco University provided the first upset of the year as the Nevadans romped through their heavily favored opponents by a score of 12 to 7.

Marvin Turner, Wolf Pack guard, intercepted a S. F. U. forward pass in midfield and dashed to the goal line to put Nevada in the lead at the end of the first quarter. Jack Hill failed to convert.

The Dons took the lead just two minutes before the first half was over. Their score came as a result of their recovery of a blocked punt inside of Nevada's ten-yard line. After Bianchi,

THE SEASON

Don back, had carried the ball over for the touchdown, Blewett converted and the score at the half was, S. F. U. 7, Nevada 6.

The second half was marked by brilliant defensive play of the Pack forward-wall. Time after time, the Dons would carry the ball within striking distance of the Nevada end-zone, only to be turned back by their opponents.

In the latter part of the third quarter, the winning touchdown was scored by Nevada's diminutive Jack Hill, after he had out-maneuvered the entire S.F.U. defense in his 77-yard jaunt to the "hill-topper's" goal. Cashill's attempt to convert failed.

Several scoring attempts of the S.F.U. team in the waning minutes of the ball-game failed.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

California's Golden Bears again routed Nevada's Wolf Pack in their annual tussle in the former's Memorial Stadium. The score was 34 to nothing.

In the game, obviously outclassed, the Nevada varsity had their backs against their own goal line most of the afternoon. The U.C. mentor, "Navy Bill" Ingram, used almost every man on his large squad sometime during the contest. This continual injection of reserve material into the game by the California coach proved to be too much of a handicap for Nevada's mentor, "Brick" Mitchell, with scarce reserve strength to offset.

Five minutes after the opening kick-off, Varner, Bear half-back, ran 16 yards for his team's initial score. This sophomore proved troublesome during the entire game for the Nevada tacklers, as he scored three touchdowns and reeled off a goodly number of the 360 yards gained from scrimmage by his mates.

Jack Hill and Vic Carroll, Wolf backs, were defensive and offensive mainstays for the Sagebrushers.

OLYMPIC CLUB

A galaxy of ex-college stars from San Francisco's Olympic Club proved themselves slightly superior to Nevada in the first home game of the season when they walked off the field with a hard-earned 14 to 0 victory to their credit.

The stellar playing of Todd and Slavich, Winged "O" ends, was the highlight of the fray. The Club line, the largest faced by the Pack all season was almost impregnable. Nevada never got the ball inside the invaders thirty-yard line.

The defensive play of Turner, Beemer, and Toquero, Wolf linesmen, received high praise from all spectators.

THE SEASON

LOYOLA

Wrigley Field, in Los Angeles, with Loyola university furnishing the opposition, was the scene of Nevada's next encounter. This contest, an after dark battle, resulted in a Nevada defeat by a 21 to 0 score.

After a scoreless first quarter, featured by a brilliant punting duel between opposing backs, Bouchard, Loyola half, squeezed through a hole in the right side of Nevada's line and scampered 18 yards to a touchdown.

An unstoppable aerial attack unleashed in the second half by the southerners, netted them two more touchdowns while they held the Wolf Pack scoreless.

Jack and Harvey Hill, fast Wolf backs, tore off many yards but to little avail as the Lion defense would stiffen when a Nevada scoring threat loomed up.

COLLEGE OF PACIFIC

The annual "big home game" of the year, the Homecoming Day battle, played before one of the largest throngs in Nevada football history, proved to be one of the most spectacular gridiron contests waged here in several seasons.

Coach Alonzo A. Stagg's Pacific Bengals were tamed by a mid-season form Wolf Pack by a score of 7 to 0. Harvey Hill, Wolf half, was "sprung" in the open in the third quarter by a fighting Nevada line and he out-raced the entire Pacific back-field in his 70-yard dash to scoring turf for the only touchdown of the game. Carroll added the extra point via the drop-kick route.

ST. MARY'S

Before the unstoppable running and aerial attacks of St. Mary's Galloping Gaels, Nevada's Wolf Pack suffered it's worst defeat of the season, 61 to 0.

The "touchdown parade" began early in the first half when George Wilson, halfback, culminated a sustained 80-yard drive down the field by slicing through the left side of Nevada's line for four yards and a score.

John Benson, end, played good defensive ball for the Nevada aggregation.

CHICO STATE

Maintaining an undefeated record in conference play, Nevada romped through Chico State by a 21 to 0 score in the final home engagement of the season.

THE SEASON

Displaying a complete dominance of play throughout the game, the Nevadans scored a touchdown in each of the first three quarters and then "coasted through" the concluding playing stanza on the strength of their safe margin.

Flournoy, Carroll, and Jack Hill carried the ball over for the touchdowns and Tom Cashill converted on each occasion.

CALIFORNIA AGGIES

With a win meaning at least a tie for conference honors, Nevada completed its schedule by registering a 21 to 7 victory over the Farmers of Davis.

Jack Hill, playing his last game in Nevada colors, made a conspicuous farewell, as he ran wild through the Aggie defense on numerous occasions and scored two of his mates' touchdowns.

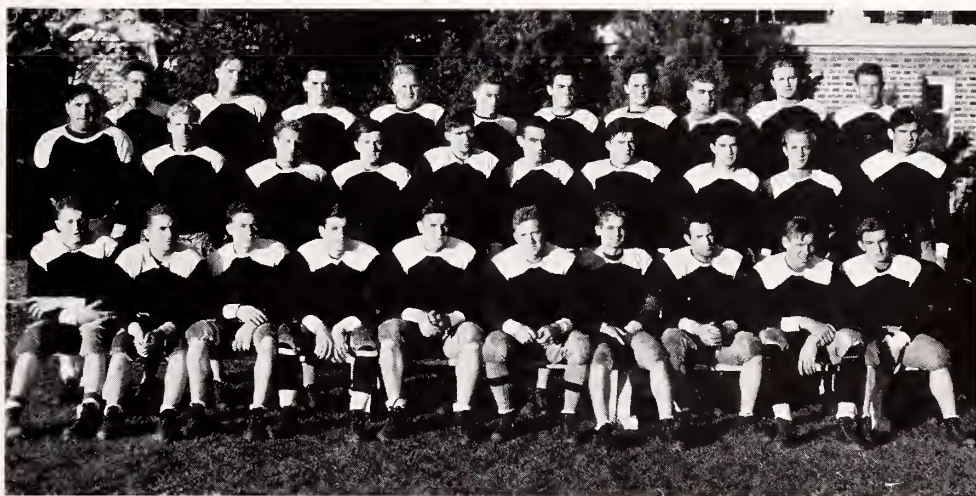

The Aggie score, in the second period, came as a result of a long forward pass play.

The final score of the season was made by Vic Carroll, full-back, as he dashed right through the middle of the Aggie defense for thirty yards and a touchdown.

THE SEASON

A difficult task of developing a winning basketball team out of a minimum amount of available material was faced this season by Coach J. E. Martie, Nevada mentor. After a discouraging early season series of defeats, the Wolf Pack found itself and closed the season winning a majority of the contests on the later part of the schedule.

Graduation this year will cut the squad of ten men exactly in half. Two veteran forwards, Jack Hill and Robert Leighton; two centers of long service, Victor Carroll and Cecil Stowell; and Harold Curran, three-letter guard, conclude their varsity hoop careers in the season's final series with the California Aggies.

CHICO STATE

An aggressive, smooth-working Chico State hoop quintet emerged victorious in both ends of a double-header series against Nevada's Wolves in the Far Western Conference curtain-raiser.

Before the first half was barely begun in the first game, the Teachers jumped into a 14 to 1 headstart. When Nevada gained the lead mid-way in the second half, the Staters put on a closing rush which swept to victory with a final score of 33 to 30.

THE SEASON

In the second game, as in the first, the Chico men gained a large lead early in the contest. They never lost their first place position and spurred to win by a score of 35 to 25.

SAN JOSE STATE

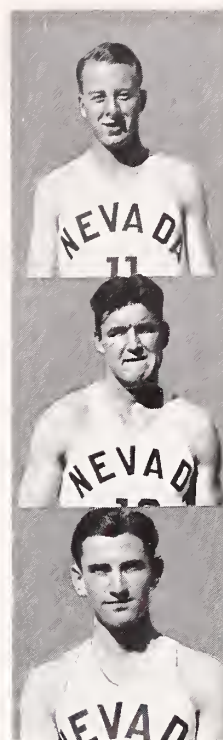

In the first home conference series Nevada met the quintet from San Jose. Though the game was closely contested throughout the invaders nosed out a win in the closing minutes of play to score 38 to 36.

The second game was nearly a repetition of the first and the Wolf Pack dropped its fourth straight conference game.

HOUSE OF DAVID

Displaying an alert brand of ball, Nevada gained an even break in a two-game series against the colorful, highly entertaining House of David barnstormers.

The Nevadans won the first encounter by a narrow margin of one point, 32 to 31. The return engagement the following evening was another thriller, resulting in victory for the bearded ones, 32 to 27.

COLLEGE OF PACIFIC

A double bill win over the 1934 conference champions was the highlight of the entire season when a fighting new Wolf Pack sent the Stockton team smarting under the twin defeats by scores of 28 to 18, and 22 to 17.

Both the contests were marked by the remarkable defensive work of Curran and Tapogna, Nevada's veteran-rookie guard combination.

ST. MARY'S

Making their only San Francisco appearance of the season the Pack tackled the Gaels of Moraga Valley to split the series with them.

The man-to-man defense of the Gaels proved bewildering to the Sagebrushers in the first contest and they got a one-sided 46 to 26 decision. Showing a complete reversal of form in the second game, Nevada captured a hard-fought battle by a score of 30 to 27.

CALIFORNIA AGGIES

In the concluding game of the season Nevada pitted its strength against the Aggies. The first game was won by the Pack with a one-point margin of 26 to 25, while the visitors reversed the tables in the next contest by the same difference, winning 24 to 23.

THE SEASON

Interest in track was at a very low ebb during the unsuccessful 1933 track season. The small turnout, together with the adverse weather conditions, spelled for Nevada one of the most unfruitful track and field years in recent history.

The few men that did answer Coach C. L. Mitchell's call were of good caliber and gave good accounts of themselves in the several scheduled meets.

The highlight of the season was the thrilling meet held on Mackay field with the College of Pacific. The Wolf Pack dropped the meet by the narrow margin of one point which was indeed a creditable showing with such a scarcity of material.

In recognition of their services, several men were awarded sweaters. They were Paul Leonard, miler; Ralph Hromadka, hurdler; Howard Smithe, two-miler; Harvey Hill, sprinter; Jack Hill, broad-jumper; and Dan Bledsoe, high-jumper.

CALIFORNIA AGGIES

Meeting a veteran track team in the opening meet of the Far Western season, Nevada's track and field squad was defeated by a one-sided score of $86\frac{1}{2}$ to $44\frac{1}{2}$.

THE SEASON

Ralph Rhomadka, hurdler, and Harvey Hill, dash man, accounted for nearly half their team's total, winning two events each. Paul Leonard, miler, and Howard Smithe, two-miler, tallied the other two first places winning their respective events in easy style. The Nevada men as a whole, although not conceded a chance of taking the meet, turned in several creditable performances which threatened conference records.

COLLEGE OF PACIFIC

One of the closest dual meets in the history of the local track was staged when the Wolf Pack met the Bengals of Pacific and were defeated by a scant margin of one point, 66 to 65.

Not until the results of the broad jump were determined was the winner known. Jack Hill was outjumped by a bare one-quarter inch by Bardin (P), and by this narrow margin went the victory of the entire show.

Nevada's eight first places were accounted for by Paul Leonard in the mile, Harvey Hill in the 100- and 200-yard dashes, Ralph Hromadka in the high and low hurdles, Sam Arentz in the two-mile, and Dan Bledsoe in the high jump and pole vault.

FAR WESTERN CONFERENCE

Competing in the fifth annual Far Western Conference meet held in Sacramento, several Nevada track men concluded their season's activities when they garnered 10½ points. Howard Smithe, sensational Wolf long distance star, scored Nevada's lone first place in the meet. His performance in the two-mile, timed in 9 minutes and 58 seconds, nears the school record.

Paul Leonard, Nevada's sophomore miler, was defeated by a scant few yards in his event. Dan Bledsoe, taking fourth in high jump, and Harvey Hill, placing third in the 220-yard dash, accounted for the remainder of the points.

1934 TRACK

With several veterans around which to build a fairly well balanced team, Coach Mitchell's 1934 squad looks to be one of the best in several seasons. Several of last year's frosh men will account for themselves and should turn in a good record for the season.

The scheduled meets for this season are:

April 21—Chico State at Chico.

April 28—California Aggies at Reno.

May 5—Far Western Conference meet at Sacramento.

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL

Playing against the best of the local teams and the College of Pacific freshmen, the Nevada frosh under the direction of Coach Chester Scranton came through the season undefeated for the first time in the history of the school. The team as a whole was the largest and strongest of recent years and should provide plenty of good varsity material.

Scoring against Reno high school apparently at will in their opening game, the freshmen gave notice that they were set for a good season. The backfield combination of Cromwell, Robb, Haman, and Sauer smothered what resistance Reno had by the score of 34 to 7.

The following week the freshmen journeyed to Fallon for a game. The Cubs overpowered the Mellonpickers and were leading 13 to 0 in the second period when the game was called because of the unfortunate death of a Fallon player.

In the tussle with the College of Pacific freshmen on the gridiron at Stockton, the Cubs reached the peak of perfection not evidenced before during the season. It was a hard and tough-fought game, but the Wolf Cubs proved to be too much for the Tiger Cubs and captured the game by a score of 13 to 6.

The freshmen met the Ely eleven in their next game on Mackay field. The Ely team was not quite as strong as formerly and was swamped by a score of 39 to 0.

In the game at Susanville the baby Wolves showed less offensive power than usual but were still able to pile up a lead of 19 to 0 against the high school champions.

In the concluding game of the schedule the frosh journeyed to Las Vegas to take on the local team which has boasted a high school championship for the past two years and defeated them 25 to 0 to climax a successful season. Each of the thirty-one men on this year's squad made his numeral.

FRESHMEN BASKETBALL

Completing a most successful season the Cub players under the able direction of Coach Scranton upheld the reputation built up by their football team in the fall season and swept through their opponents to victory, dropping but one game in the entire season.

Meeting the Virginia City five in the opening game of the season, the Frosh defeated them by a score of 35 to 24. In a later game the Frosh scored another victory over Virginia City, 32 to 24. The Cubs met their toughest opponents when they traveled to Susanville where they lost their first and last game of the season by a close score of 17 to 14. This game evened the series between the two teams, the freshmen having decisively beaten the Lassen County boys in an earlier game on the University court 34 to 21. Gardnerville, an enthusiastic team from Douglas County, gave the Frosh a hard game and lost only by one basket with a score of 26 to 24. In the Reno game the first-year men hit their stride by again defeating the Huskies 23 to 19. On the following week-end they defeated the Lovelock team on their own court by a score of 26 to 13. In the second game against Lovelock the Frosh again claimed honors, winning 25 to 20. In a one-sided game the yearlings handed the members of the Hawthorne C.C.C. team a defeat of 40 to 29 in a well played game. Playing a preliminary to the varsity game, the members of the blue and white fought to victory over the College of Pacific "B" team. The Wolf Cubs played both skillfully and smoothly, proving to be by far the better team as the score of 24 to 13 may indicate. The Cubs rounded out their successful season by handing the Yerington cagers a defeat by scoring a 22 to 13 lead over them.

Numerals were awarded on the basis of attendance and spirit, to seventeen members of the squad.

Jensen, DeLaMare, Prusia, Dixon, Roguin, Rodriguez, Mangum, Smith, Wilder, Elliott, McDoge, Scranton.

FRESHMEN TRACK

The 1933 freshmen track season might be considered successful as far as promises for next year's varsity is concerned. Lack of material and only a few outstanding men contributed to a mediocre season. The Interclass meet gave the freshmen a tie for third place with the sophomores. The seniors ran away with the meet with 42 points, the juniors garnered 32 to take second place, and the lowerclassmen tied with 28 points apiece. John Noyes in the dashes, Walter Hunting in the hurdles, Lynn Gerow in the weights, and Victor Becaas in the javelin and discus throw were the freshmen who placed in the meet.

The Frosh met Reno high school next in a dual meet on Mackay field. Times were slow and there were no outstanding performances because of the stiff cross-wind. Hunting was the work horse of the Cubs, taking 18 points in his events. The Frosh won this meet $74\frac{1}{2}$ to $47\frac{1}{2}$.

In a scheduled four-cornored meet of Reno, Sparks, Susanville, and the Frosh, poor weather conditions caused Sparks to withdraw. Susanville was represented by only one man, Galloway, who took 11 points. The freshmen won this meet after a close contest with Reno. The Cubs scored 58 points, Reno High 47 points, and Susanville 11. Booth of Reno scored 15 points to annex high honors. Hunting, with 14 points was the individual Frosh star.

The final meet of the Frosh was on Mackay Field against Susanville. The weather was poor for a track meet, and no records were broken.

The roster of those who competed in the various events included: Hunting, Noyes, Cummings, Mathias, Gerow, Hartman, Brown, Best, Hadlen, Tannehill, Wakeling, Bohlke, Hunter, Leavitt, Record and Couch.

Standing: Havens, Becker, Cobb, Roguin, Maule, Richards, Zadoc—Seated: Mangum, Prusia, Rose, Di Iullo, McDow, Devore, Carpenter, Lubin

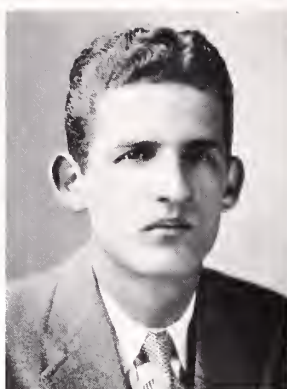

ARTEMISIA

*P*ainting a colorful and lasting reproduction of the year on the Nevada campus, the 1934 Artemisia makes its appearance.

The theme is woven around the campus and its people and accordingly is divided into two main divisions, the first of which deals with those who make up the university personnel and the second with college life. It has been our problem to embody originality, mechanical perfection, and artistic appeal within the book, and at the same time keep within definite financial limits.

What we believe to be some of the salient features of the book are the unusual cover, the greater use of color as seen in the borders, the informal presentation of the faculty department heads with biographical sketches, the campus views, the use of cloth figures to depict the various subdivisions, and a new type of page layouts. These combine with several features of the physical makeup to give the Artemisia an informal and vivid atmosphere.

ARTEMISIA

IN spite of generally improved conditions in and around the university, the Artemisia business staff was confronted with two conditions which gave some difficulty in the financing of the book. The first of these arose in the spring of 1933 when the Associated Students adopted the new constitution. Under the administration of this instrument the Artemisia now receives three dollars from each student where formerly four dollars was allowed per book. The second of the difficulties arose indirectly from the National Industrial Recovery Act. On all of its contracts the Artemisia was forced to accept the code terms for its material and accordingly the production cost of the book was increased.

To overcome these difficulties a well-balanced staff of ad-chasers was organized, each member of which devoted many hours to the placing of the Artemisia on a sound financial basis. It is only through the extra efforts put forth by the staff that we have been able to sponsor a yearbook which compares favorably with those of the past in size and quality of material. The Artemisia is deeply grateful to the Retail Merchants Association of Reno, and to all those business men of the city and vicinity whose unselfish support has assured the financial success of the book.

Completing its forty-first year of publication, the University of Nevada Sagebrush, official weekly newspaper of the college, developed several innovations, took decided stands editorially on issues of student government, and underwent a revolution in staff organization.

Among the innovations made this year were the creation of an art staff, weekly staff meetings, abolition of the night staff, the inclusion of coverage of news throughout the collegiate world, new feature columns, an increase in news pictures and a new style of makeup.

Campaigning on several important issues editorially, the Sagebrush succeeded in bringing about a check-up of campus traditions, abolition of extreme physical hazing, several improvements on the campus and a change to relieve the conflict between the date of issuance of delinquent notices and the Homecoming Day celebration.

SAGEBRUSH

THE last year was one of the most successful ever enjoyed by the University of Nevada Sagebrush from a financial standpoint. Probably unprecedented in the history of the college weekly the size of the editions has been materially increased to six and eight pages a copy.

Unhindered by bank closures, our work has been made comparatively easier by the spirit of returning prosperity which seems to be enjoyed by the local merchants who have been anything but niggardly in their support of the paper. We have also received loyal support from the national advertisers which has made possible the larger size of the paper. A drive staged by members of the junior managers' staff to secure more subscriptions and a wider subscription has resulted very profitably for the paper, from the standpoint of a greater sales income, and an increase of the Sagebrush as an advertising medium, and accordingly it now holds a reputation as such among the business men.

THE Student News Service Bureau, which has been operated by the office of the Graduate Manager for the past two years was taken over this year by Howard Umber under the direction and supervision of the Finance Control committee. This year has been an especially busy one for the bureau and a large staff has kept the public informed of the activities of the university people through the medium of news releases and mats and cuts to all the papers throughout the state, other college papers, and the leading periodicals on the coast.

This year the bureau has featured a weekly program over the local radio station KOH with speeches and entertainment by university people.

PUBLICATIONS

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

COMPOSED of the heads of the two campus publications and three students from the Senate at large, the Publications Board has the power of electing the new editors and managers at the close of the school year; the removing from office of anyone deemed incompetent; the filling of vacancies; the exercising of a supervisory control over questions concerning policies of the various publications; and the issuing of the Homecoming Day programs.

The board was first organized in 1924, and since that time has increased its activities to include the maintaining of harmony between the solicitors of advertising, and the downtown merchants.

DEBATE

Under the tutelage of Robert S. Griffin, the debate team of the University of Nevada has enjoyed one of the most successful seasons of recent years. Nevada teams met a number of the foremost debaters in the West and Northwest during the spring semester, including the University of Southern California, the University of Idaho, Whitman College, and many others.

The debate season was started during the fall semester, when representatives of fraternities and sororities met in intramural competition and conducted an elimination tournament. From those who competed in this tournament, Coach Griffin selected a varsity squad consisting of Cornelia Arentz, Guenevere Erikson, Paula Bradshaw, Edward Connors, Albert Agee, William Cashill, Fred Eikelberger, Emile Gezelin, and Lloyd Bowen. A number of veterans also reported for the squad, including Blanche Lucas, Guild Gray, Carl Dodge, Bryce Rhodes and Granville Fletcher.

The intercollegiate season was opened in February, when Lloyd Bowen and Guild Gray met a team from Northwestern Nazarene College of Nampa, Idaho, in a no-decision contest. The University of Southern California then sent a women's team to Reno to debate Blanche Lucas and Paula Bradshaw in a contest which they won by a comfortable margin.

The next meet in Reno was a mixed contest between Fred Eikelberger and William Cashill of Nevada, and two women from the College of Pacific. The Stockton orators won by a two-to-one margin. A women's debate with Oregon State College was cancelled when the Oregon team found it impossible to make the trip.

Two debates in April finished the season, When Oregon State College and the University of Southern California sent teams to Reno to compete with Nevada men.

Although Nevada did not win a large majority of her home debates, the complexion of the entire season changed when veterans Granville Fletcher and Bryce Rhodes started on their annual tour of the Northwest, meeting four of the outstanding teams of this section.

Lucas, Bradshaw, Erikson, Arentz

In their first contest of the tour Fletcher and Rhodes were awarded a judges' decision over the strong team representing the University of Idaho at Moscow.

The Nevadans then met Whitman College, at Walla Walla, Washington. The Whitman debaters are Northwest champions, having won the Northwest Invitational Debate tournament at Linfield College. Nevada lost to the Washington team by a close margin, the judges requiring a forty-minute consultation before they rendered their decision.

In the next contest, that with Williamette University at Salem, Oregon, the Nevada debaters won a critical judges' decision, but in the last debate of the trip with Oregon State College at Corvallis, the men lost a hotly contested argument.

Nevada will feel keenly the loss of Granville Fletcher and Blanche Lucas, whose forensic careers will be closed when they are graduated this spring. Miss Lucas, has been an ardent supporter of debate throughout her college career, and for three years she has ably represented Nevada in intercollegiate competition, while Fletcher, in the debate with the University of Southern California, brought to a close one of the most impressive careers in the history of Nevada debate.

However, Nevada debate is expected to be raised to a new high level in the next few years, through the joining of the Pacific Forensic League. This organization is composed of the leading colleges and universities on the Pacific coast. The invitation extended to Nevada to join the league is a recognition by coast institutions of the standard of excellence of Nevada teams, and comes as the culmination of several years of effort on the part of Coach Griffin and the students alike.

Nevada teams will not be forced to make extended trips in the future in order to secure debates with outstanding institutions. Schedules are drawn up by the league members, and debates are kept almost wholly within the organization.

Much of the active management of the debate squads this year was in the hands of the managers of the men's and women's squads. Blanche Lucas was the women's manager and Carl Dodge presided at a number of debates and served as men's manager.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

Interest in the Women's Glee has been very marked this past year. In conjunction with the Men's Glee the club has presented out of town concerts in Fernley and Gardnerville, and has participated in the Wolves' Frolic, presenting the "Big Bad Wolf". Concerts also were given over the local radio station KOH, and the annual Spring concert at the Twentieth Century club was presented before an appreciative Reno audience.

THE BAND

Though not quite as large as in former years the band this year was nevertheless a well balanced unit. The band was very active the past year playing at all of the civic and military parades and inspections, football and basketball games, and at rallies. Due to the lack of funds the band was not able to go to the California game this year as they have done previously. Active control of the band is in the hands of Kappa Kappa Psi.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT

Colonel Robert Brambila

ALTHOUGH military training in colleges was first authorized by Congress when the bill introduced by Senator Morrill of Nevada was passed in 1862, training at the University of Nevada did not start until the fall of 1888.

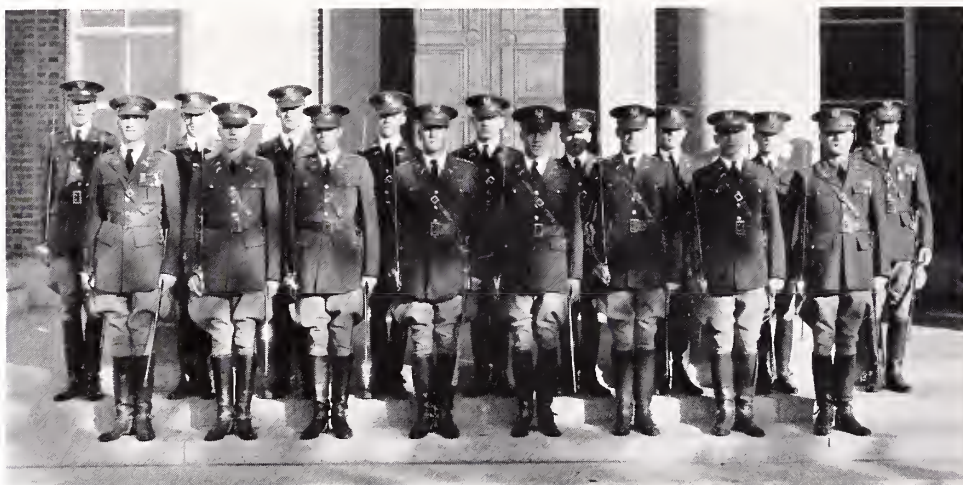

Through the efforts of Senator William Stuart of Nevada, Lieutenant A. C. Ducat, a graduate of West Point, was detailed as instructor. At this time the only other university army officer on the entire West Coast was stationed at the University of California.

In 1916 the corps was made a unit of the R.O.T.C. by an act of Congress, and when the United States declared war, it became the nucleus of the Students' Army training corps, in which 154 university students immediately enlisted. At the present time military training is compulsory.

The standards of the Nevada unit have been built up gradually in recent years to the point where a rating of "excellent" was given by inspectors last year. This is the highest classification given to any unit by the war department, and marks the culmination of a long period of intensive training.

Cadet officers who commanded the battalion during the spring drill were selected by Colonel Brambila in March. They are: Paul Fontana, major; Bruce Moore, adjutant; Eugen Salet, captain of Company A; Neil Plath, second-in-command; Daniel Harvey, captain of Company B; Ned Horehouse, second-in-command.

Colonel Robert M. Brambila will complete his third consecutive year as commandant at the University of Nevada this June. He is a graduate of the University of Nevada, and served as commandant during the period from 1905 to 1909. Lieutenant H. B. Wilcox and Sergeant Grant Hustis assist him in the operation of the department.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT

SPONSORED by the military department, the University of Nevada rifle team is formed of men enlisted in the R.O.T.C. The 1933-34 season was completed February 28, when the team fired in the annual Hearst Trophy match. Matches were fired during the year with leading universities and colleges throughout the United States, as well as the Ninth Corps Area Gallery match.

Men who fired as members of the team and who will receive circle N's from the Associated Students include Bela Harcos, Paul Walker, Wendell Duplantis, Paul Fontana, Joseph Lubin, Ned Morehouse, Leland Hazeltine, Ralph Ball, Daniel Harvey, Walter Bowrin. Sergeant Grant Hustis served as team coach.

Medals were presented by Scabbard and Blade to the three men firing the highest scores in the Ninth Corps Area match. They are: Bela Harcos, first; Wendell Duplantis, second; Ned Morehouse, third.

Besides taking an active part in the rifle team, the major activity of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, this year was the Military Ball, given February 3. Miss Margery Mullen, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, was elected from a group of seven nominees for the office of honorary major, to preside at the ball and functions of the society. The affair was one of the most successful in recent years.

During the four-weeks camp period at the Presidio of Monterey, Nevada Scabbard and Blade men were active in training work. As well as leading all schools represented at the camp in scholastic average, the highest score made on the rifle range during the period was shot by Ned Morehouse in qualifying for "expert". All University of Nevada men qualified for some rating, a feat accomplished by no other university.

ASSOCIATED ENGINEERS

THE Associated Engineers is an organization which is composed of approximately two hundred and fifty students registered in the four branches of the engineering college, including mining, mechanical, electrical, and civil engineering. All students of the college are eligible for membership in the organization.

The main aim of the association is to organize the students of engineering and to provide for the further advancement of the science on the campus by presenting motion pictures of engineering projects and problems and outside lecturers upon various fields of the science. Regular meetings are held throughout the year at which time roundtable discussions take place and problems of the club are discussed.

During the Homecoming Day celebration the engineers hold exhibits of their work in the different schools and feature spectacular experiments for the visitors. The Association is in direct charge of these exhibits as well as the entering of their floats in the parade.

A mucking contest for the mining students, and a chaining contest for the civils is held each Mackay Day and cups for the events are awarded by downtown merchants. Frequent banquets and field trips are sponsored by the group and the annual Engineer's Brawl held during the fall semester is usually one of the best-attended dances of the year.

Dear Mr. Bath:

You handed me rather a tough assignment, that of selecting but one from the group of photographs you sent me. Nevada must be blessed with a wealth of attractive girls, if the photographs you sent me are any indication.

However, according to my insufficient talents along this line, I have selected Miss Virginia Wheeler as first choice, and Miss Theresa Jauregui as second choice, as the young ladies who seem to be outstanding examples of true American pulchritude.

I thank you for honoring me with this task, and trust my selection will prove agreeable to all concerned.

Sincerely,

Bing Crosby

the pictorial year . . . here, there, and everywhere . . . this, that, and anything . . . glimpses of guys and gals . . . films . . . and more films . . . "watch the birdie, please"

Robin Hood and his men make merry on the greensward as the Coffin and Keys neophytes stage their annual spring running. Silas Feemster clouts out a homer in the faculty-senior game. He also displays a wicked outshoot and "Boss" Curran calls it a strike on the unfortunate batter. The gang of tramps at the bottom of the page moved in on the campus one morning and so we shot them.

The Frosh and Sophs allcays at it. At the top several of the boys are carrying up a barrel of water to paint the "N". When the Vigilantes tried to take some of the freshman offenders they found a real battle on their hands most of the time and more often went in the lake instead of those intended. The annual Field day resulted in a landslide victory for the freshmen again though someone almost lost his pants.

Nevada's greatest Homecoming began with a mammoth bonfire and rally on the bleachers led by Yell Leader Fontana. At the lower right hand corner of the page may be seen the fire before and after. The Phi Sigs entertained the campus at a street dance in front of the chapter house after the rally and the following evening the Wolves' Frolic was staged. Several shots snapped backstage caught the cast doing almost anything.

The parade was never larger or filled with more scrumptious floats. The Stray Greeks ride by in all their glory while the Sigma Nu's follow close beside them. Beta Sigma Omicron float and the Delta Delta Delta float. At the left is Oscar's brain child. The Independents sneaked out the two swans in the lake for their float and the pre-meds performed all kinds of operations on a brother.

Frankenstein Boomer almost scared Amos Alonzo away from here when he appeared in this regalia. Turner and Gould of Pacific shake hands before the game and fists after. The Sigma Phi Sigmas and their prize-winning house and the Thetas and their prize-winning float. Just before the game Coach Stagg was presented with a gift from the university by Jack Smith, Homecoming Day chairman.

The Sigma Nus give a real reverse dance and come dressed in the garb of the opposite sex. Our little Joe took first prize. Do you see him? The three campus notables known to small and great alike: that man of the world, the janitor of the Libe, and old Mac who tags our cars, and good old Hosain who really believes that our credit is good for cones. Campus Players put on a play over the air as Jackson and Johnson look on.

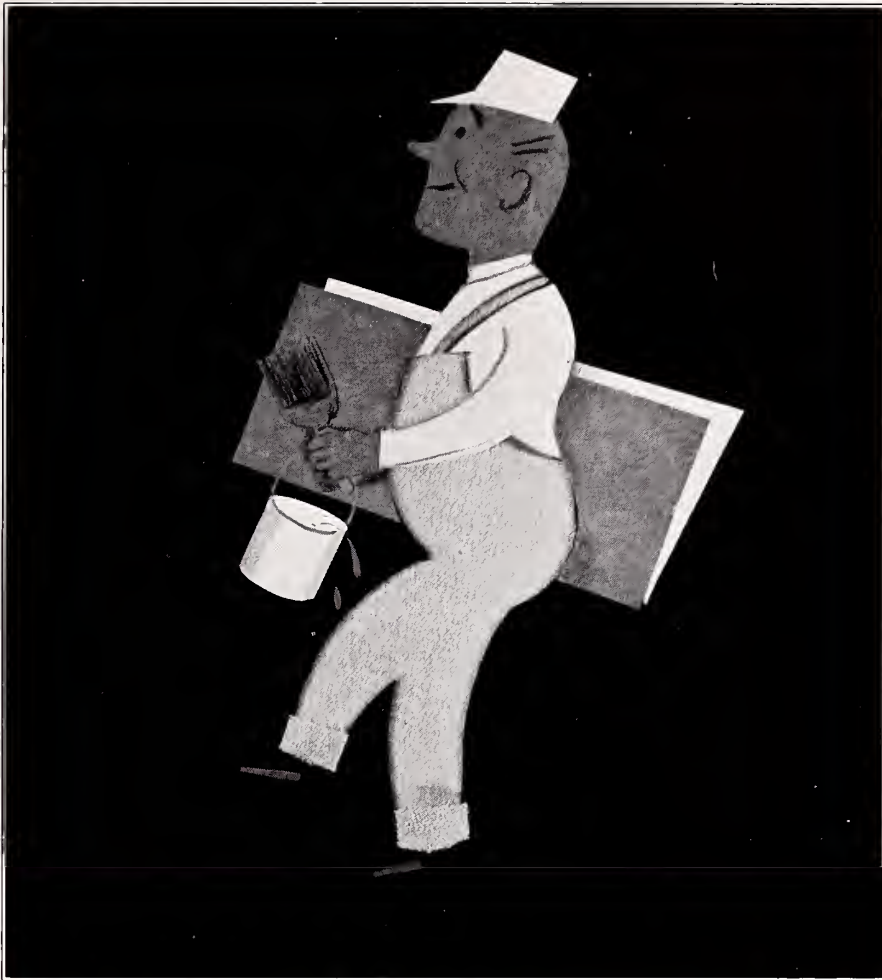

Gladys Morris casts the first ballot in the Sagebrush campaign against hazing as Brother Joe and Scoop look on. The graduate manager and his erstwhile effervescent assistant look over the CTS. Then there he is again trying to buffalo the Frosh. Prof. Wilson is all dressed up and rarin' to go to the faculty gay nineties' party. Bledsoe shows his form on the highjump and Joe Lynch and the gals do some fancy shooting.

Some of the boys are digging the raft out of the icy waters while some of the others are doing nothing in particular. The Delta Sigs took over the tennis courts but lost their shirts doing it, and their pants too in a couple of cases. Below them is the Press club Ruckus cast. The Thetas knock them dead with their beards when they show up for the check-off. Ed Bath, Mackay Day chairman, is really getting down to work.

THE LAST WORD

In sincere appreciation:

To Mr. Harry Frost of the Reno Printing Company who has handled the entire production of the 1934 Artemisia and who has taken all of ye olde editor's baffling problems and solved them the best he could and willingly assumed all of the responsibility.

To Mr. William Shipaugh whose valuable and timely suggestions coupled with his sincere interest in the book is evidenced by the quality of the typography appearing in the edition. Also, to Mr. Carter Parish, Mr. Ted Krebs, and Mr. Jack Cole of the same house for their press and typographical work.

To Mr. Wayne Thornton of the American Engraving Company whose work in the supervision of the engraving and the art details, as well as his many suggestions in the planning of the book have made him an indispensable part of our organization.

To Mr. Roy Curtis of the Curtis Studios for his fine quality commercial photography and his patience and willingness to cooperate.

To Mr. Frank Goodner of the Goodner Studios for his high class portraiture which we feel proud to have been able to obtain for this year's book.

To Mr. Ted Ellsworth of Berkeley whose artistic photography has made possible the campus view section which we consider one of the features of the book, and for his unselfish aid and suggestions in the original planning of this edition.

To Mr. Tate Williams and members of the Nevada Retail Merchants Association for their splendid cooperation and loyal support of the 1934 Artemisia from a financial standpoint.

To anyone who had any part whatsoever in the production of this edition.
